Summary

Subject matter: The improvement of the system of state regulation of the entrepreneurial activity (on the example of the Ministry of economic development of Stavropol Krai).

Author: Vakula Natalia Viktorovna.

Supervisor of studies: Sidorova A.V., chair of innovatics, management, and law.

Customer organization: Ministry of economic development of Stavropol krai.

Topicality of the research: The dynamics of the development of entrepreneurship in the majority of cases depend on the effectiveness of the system of public administration, on how successfully it fulfills the functions related to the regulation of the competitive environment. And the task of the formation of the conditions needed for the development of entrepreneurship is not only for the periods of the transformation of the economic system. This a compulsory function of the state irrespective of the degree of the development of its economy. This is all the more true of the socially-oriented market economy which requires an effective state acting as a catalyst, as an instrumented, as a stimulus of and supplement to the entrepreneurial activity.

Objective: of the research to highlight the main directions of the improvement of the mechanism of the state regulation of entrepreneurial activity.

Tasks:
- to study the essence of the notion “state regulation of entrepreneurial activity” and also to reveal the existing kinds;
- to examine the existing methods and means of state regulation;
- to study the notion “state control”;
- to examine the organizational and legal characteristic of the Ministry of economic development of Stavropol Krai;
- to analyze the main directions of the Ministry’s performance;
- to develop the recommendations on the improvement of the mechanism of state regulation of entrepreneurship in according with current trends.
Theoretical and practical significance of the research is the verification of the essence of the state regulation of entrepreneurial activity. Certain principles of the work can be used for the realization of the measures aimed at the development of the entrepreneurial activity in Stavropol krai.

Results of the research: the krai has created all the necessary prerequisites for the formation of the favourable entrepreneurial climate. Moreover for the future and nature entrepreneurs there begin to function all kinds of courses, schools, presidential programs, internet-portals where they place the information useful for entrepreneurs. However today taxation is is a most powerful factor hindering the development of entrepreneurship.

Recommendations:
1. Radical reduction of a number of taxes (up to 8). About 80% of the consolidated budget of the RF is composed of the returns from four taxes: VAT, excise-duties, revenue tax, income-tax from physical persons. All the other taxes give only 20% of the tax returns.
2. Creation of maximum comfortable conditions for the timely and full implementation by taxpayers of their obligations to pay taxes, the formation of the tax culture and creation of positive reputation of the tax service.