

SUMMARY

Subject matter: Paremie realizations of the concept 'Woman' in the French lingvoculture

Author: Tarasenko Evgenia Vladimirovna

Supervisor of studies: Kustova Elena Yurievna

Information about customer organization: Department of the French philology and intercultural communications

Topicality of the research: is due to the necessity of the elaboration of some problems connected with the studies of lingvocultural concepts which estimate the originality and the specificity of the nation.

The objective of the research: the analysis of the concept 'Woman' and the means of its realization in the French proverbs and sayings.

Tasks of the research: 1. Giving the definitions to the notions 'concept' and 'lingvocultural worldview'. 2. Studying the role of such phraseological units as pemie, proverbs and sayings in the reflection of the national character of the French.

3. Making the research of the structure of the concept 'Woman' and determining of its peculiarities.

Theoretical and practical significance: is determined by the possibility of the application of its results to the further studies of the concept 'Woman' in the French and some other lingvocultures; to the special interpretation of the relations between the language and the culture; to the development of the analysis of the concept as the object of the research of the cognitive linguistics.

Results of the research: the analysis of the problem determines the reliability of the theoretical thesis concerning the notion of the concept, its structure, contents and specific features. The study of the concept 'Woman' allowed a better understanding of the role of lingvocultural concepts and of the mentality of the French in general.

Recommendations: the results of the research could be used as the material in the teaching of the lexicology, the psycholinguistics and the stylistics of the French language, or as additional information.