Summary

Subject matter: Elitogenes in the organizational and administrative system of municipal administration (on the example of Georgievsk municipal district).

Author: Zhalgasbaev Timur Talgatovich.

Supervisor of studies: Astvatsaturova M.A., doctor of political sciences, professor, chair of innovatics, management and law.

Customer organization: Georgievsk municipal district organization.

Topicality of the research: Modern elitogenez in the organizational and administrative system of municipal administration is undergoing one of the most complicated, landmark moment of its development. This period is even harder than the epoch of the end of the 80-s and 90-s XX century when the change of the ruling elites was taking place in the historical scale of the change of the socio-political formation. The world economic crisis hit Russia in 2008-2009 thus placing the political elite, its leaders in front of the new “challenges”. It is evident that the crisis bears the structural nature and called to eliminate everything that hinders the introduction of innovative technologies breakthroughs.

Tasks:

- discovery of the peculiarities of elitogenez on the level of Georgievsk municipal district and determination of the perspectives of its further development.

- To provide the theoretical and methodological description of the concepts of the ruling elite and discover the criteria of its definition.

- To clarify the content of the normative and legal basis of the functioning of the municipal elite in the international and Russian Context.

- To clarify the peculiarities and specific features of the formation of the municipal elite in Russia at the stage of the political transit. To determine the main tendencies of elitogenez on the example of Georgievsk municipal district and discover the key peculiarities and tendencies of the functioning of the municipal elite in modern Russia.

Theoretical significance of the research: is the clarification of the peculiarities of elitogenez on the municipal level in the RF and in the concrete region of the RF. The theoretical significance of the research is the complex analysis of the theoretical concepts of the municipal elite and in the development of a number of post structuralistic concepts important from the point of view of a comprehensive examination of the elite phenomenon. The results obtained promote a much deeper theoretical comprehensive of the development and functioning of the municipal elites of the post Soviet transitional societies.

Practical significance of the research: is that its main results can be used for the practical recommendation to the authorities. On the basis of the findings they develop the strategy of the development of the political and administrative elites in the crisis conditions.

Results of the research: We showed the diversity of the municipal elite on the example of Georgievsk municipal district and also the specific features of this phenomenon in worldwide scale with reference to Russia.

Recommendations: 1. To improve the level of he professional training of the municipal employees by taking the University course “Public service and administration”. 2. to hold regular training and seminars on the upgrading of the qualifications of the municipal employees. 3. To intensify the role of the elite of Georgievsk administration through the mass media in order to interact effectively with the population. 4. To conduct more organizationally meaningful event in collaboration with public organizations and parties.