

Abstract

final qualifying work Belousova Christine .

"Development of a database for the company's" "Coffee Break"

The amount of work 69 s., Including 26 in Fig., 4 tab., 35 naim. literature.

Keywords: database. Databases, document management, automated system. An explanatory note is made of 69 pages is devoted to developing a database for the company of an individual entrepreneur Nemtseva. Developed a database improves performance, "Coffee Break". Helps accelerate the conclusion of contracts and storage of documents, not only in paper form, but electronically.

In the thesis work of the necessity of developing a database in Microsoft Access 2003. The structure of the database and identify its main features. Created tables, queries, forms and reports for storing and editing documents.

The practical result of the thesis is to create a workable model of the database. Fill out the information available to the developer of the database. Provided a functioning model of a database for the customer's company.

In the feasibility study assessed the value of costs to develop the database. Operation of the developed database showed a positive economic impact in the future functioning of the organization. Showing the main indicators of costs, assessed value of the equipment involved in the development of the database.

The results of the thesis can be used in the implementation and development of similar databases.